The Sumerians are said to have cultivated and harvested the opium poppy (Papaver somniferum) in lower Mesopotamia as early as 3400 BC, though this has been disputed. The most ancient testimony concerning the opium poppy found to date was inscribed in cuneiform script on a small white clay tablet at the end of the third millennium BC. This tablet was discovered in 1954 during excavations at ...

The opium wars were actually a struggle between conflicting interests in both China and Britain. When the British government tried to suppress the mostly Scottish smuggling families (because the trade was destroying Indian agriculture) the plan was blocked by their Chinese business partners (principally the Chinese Imperial Customs) who threatened to end all British commerce if they interfered ...
